Youth and Development Consultancy Institute - Etijah was founded and registered in 2006 in Cairo, Egypt to serve youth using local resources, while fighting inequality in all its forms including economic, gender and geographic inequalities.

Etijah seeks to empower youth through providing them with the necessary skills to promote active participation and leadership, while building the capacity of both governmental and non-governmental youth-serving organizations.
“Etijah enhances understanding and appreciates youth as one of the most important assets a country could have. This is why it reinforces effective methodologies that are in compliance with the Arabic culture, especially in the area of community and youth development.”

Hisham El Rouby, Etijah CEO
Vision

Etijah seeks to promote and facilitate the establishment of an equitable society in which all members have an opportunity to participate in building the social, political and economic infrastructure of Egypt. All of Etijah’s projects are geared towards creating a thriving environment, in which community members are granted an opportunity to progress, and to improve the quality of their lives, and subsequently, that of their families’ and society.

Mission

Etijah aims to build the capacities of governmental and non-governmental youth-serving organizations, so as to provide a professional and safe context for youth development assistance to lead in Egypt. This stems from Etijah’s belief that providing other NGOs with different sorts of assistance will lead to strengthening the bond between those organizations, and youth. It will also lead to the transformation of youth from being solely beneficiaries to becoming active citizens. This will directly reflect on the efficiency of the partner NGOs.

Confidence

We firmly believe in building and fostering healthy relations among community members, between Etijah team and communities, and internally between our team members. Ultimately, we seek to create an environment which enables development and growth.

Cooperation

We partner directly with community members, partner organizations, and community leaders to achieve a sustainable impact in the communities we serve. We apply partnerships on community, national and global levels to attract all kinds of support for our collective objectives that are aligned with the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs).

Empowerment

The central purpose of our mandate is to equip youth with the capacity and skills necessary to improve their livelihoods. Through this, we seek to inspire youth to become leaders in their own communities and to realize their own dreams.

Sustainability

We plan, monitor and evaluate our impact based on our ability to maintain specific development outcomes with Economic, Environmental and Social lenses.
Target Group

Etijah targets a comprehensive development approach of disadvantaged communities’ utilizing the capacities of youth to serve and engage in responding to local development challenges. Etijah works to provide youth, and youth workers with education and training to support them with essential tools needed to work effectively with disadvantaged communities. The primary target audience for Etijah are youth individuals and organizations that work primarily to provide services for youth. Most youth workers make their way into the job market through the practice of their jobs, without formal education and training. Realizing this fact, Etijah aims to serve as a consultancy institute that develops and enhances professional cadre in Egypt and the Arab world. Etijah works to build the capacity of governmental and non-governmental youth serving organizations through enhancing and dispersing development methodologies, which further empowers these organizations and enables them to maximize their abilities to better serve youth in a proficient manner in addition to ensuring the sustainability of their programs.

Philosophy and Methodology

Community youth development is defined as working to establish a supportive environment where meaningful and peaceful relationships are maintained between individuals and peers, while at the same time, providing different opportunities to enable youth to realize their full potential and become active and engaged in their own development and communities. (Perkins et al, 2008)

Asset Based Community Development (ABCD) is an approach for sustainable community-driven development. ABCD seeks to link the micro-assets of a specific community to the wider environment. The power of the ABCD strategy lies in communities themselves who can drive the development process independently by identifying and utilizing existing assets, and consequently forming local economic opportunities and solutions. (ABCD Institute, 2008)

Where youth practically contribute along different phases of projects from planning and designing all the way to implementation, execution and evaluation.
Etijah’s team is made up of experienced and qualified individuals who have been involved in various disciplines of development for many years; especially those related to youth development and civic engagement, research methodology development, and community development approaches. Our staff possesses broad experience in approaching local communities and identifying the community’s needs and assets. Our team encompasses the promising young people with the vast experienced youth workers under one umbrella.

Etijah, currently, owns a set of research tools and forms which greatly assist in painting a clear picture of local communities, but there is always room for more modification and innovation. Our staff is experienced in developing and adopting development methodologies that are tailored to suit different backgrounds, challenges, and cultures of the Egyptian local communities.

TOMOOH Phase 2

In phase 2 of Tomooh, Etijah’s team had to face the unprecedented challenge of COVID-19. As a response to the pandemic, Etijah’s team, in support with SCFF, was successful in shifting the plan and sessions designed to be implemented on ground to an online format that ensures the safety of the participants. In this regard, the training sessions for both components of the Tomooh program were conducted through a variety of online platforms including ZOOM which enabled the participants to both attend the sessions as groups and to also meet with the mentors and coaches on the various occasions in one-to-one meeting sessions. Overall, the effective use of online methods of training and communication allowed Etijah to sustain the operations of the program as optimally and efficiently as possible despite the overarching challenges that confronted the world.

Networking Day

The networking day was a hybrid event that was implemented offline and streamed online. The on ground attendees were 27 participants and 10 speakers from different sectors and background such as incubation programs, marketing, social entrepreneurship, venture capital and so on to pass on their knowledge and expertise to the participants. The day was streamed online on Etijah’s Facebook page to reach 38,300 individuals who got access to information and guidance from the guest speakers to help motivate them into entering the entrepreneurship ecosystem as well as get to know more about the Tomooh entrepreneurship component as an agent in that ecosystem that aids aspiring entrepreneurs in establishing and developing their startups. The day was not only designed to help all present 27 participants (13 females and 14 males) from the 25 startups to get connected to potential funders to help launch or scale-up their startups towards their goals, to get to meet specialists as well as incubators and funders in their fields. Of the startups participating in the event, 7 serve the Education sector, 3 serve the Environment sector, 4 serve the Healthcare sector, 7 are in the Arts & Crafts sector, and 4 are in the Online Platforms sector.

TOMOOH Demo Day

The Tomooh Entrepreneurship component’s Demo Day was conducted with the purpose of giving the nine most remarkable participating startups’ teams pitch their startups in front of a distinguished panel of five that included honored representative from a variety of sectors and fields to guarantee that the discussions and the final decision for the winners is as objective as possible. The most advanced startups were the ones that showcased the most growth, whose teams showcased the most receptacle to the training, mentorship, and guidance received, and the ones who were able to practically apply that knowledge to progress further beyond where they were positioned at the beginning of the phase. Thus, the demo day represented an opportunity for all 24 present participants (13 females, 11 males) to showcase their progress and truly depict their growth.

The final three winning startups scored the highest points were:

1. Tawarae’ is an app users will be able to request on-demand healthcare visits and services from the nearest healthcare providers in their areas.

2. Acacia is a startup concerned with raising environmental awareness, provides environmental services, interior design, and furniture from recycled materials like tires and containers.

3. Trustivet is a mobile application that contains several services provided by veterinarians and pet care services providers for animals’ owners through facilitating the process of searching, connecting, and follow-up.
The main objective of Meshwar Aman is to combat youth unemployment in Egypt.

Participants have received capacity-building training by specialists in each of the 3 governorates, with the aim of developing certain skills such as customer service, etiquette, basic English language skills, GPS usage.

Young Arab Voices

2011 - 2013

Partners: Anna Lindh Foundation, British Council

This regional initiative aimed to provide Arab youth with debate skills and facilitate the exchange of ideas on various local, national and regional topics, in order to contribute to building more democratic and pluralistic societies in the Arab world.

The participants were from the following Arab countries: Egypt, Jordan, Libya, Morocco, Tunisia.

Public Debate and Dialogue Program (Monazra Land)

2013

Partner: UN Women

This program employed a new ‘edutainment’ technique through Monazra Land, an innovative debate board game geared towards the empowerment of women and girls. During the program, participants enter a simulation representing our world, and practice their debate skills while learning about topics such as human rights and peaceful coexistence, through an immersive, interactive experience.

ToT program

Mostly from 4 governorates - Alexandria, Aswan, Cairo, Mansoura

---

Enhancing Youth Leadership

2011 - 2013

Partner: Plan International

This initiative aimed to train young volunteers in Cairo on the basics of development, volunteering, community studies and planning youth initiatives. In addition, some social initiatives were enacted, such as the training of managers and employees of youth centers on participation, strategic planning and networking among youth organizations.

Activating the Role of Youth in Public Life

2011 - 2013

Partners: Egyptian Red Crescent (ERC), Young Men’s Christian Association (YMCA)

The goal of this project was to involve Egyptian youth in public life through supporting and improving their sense of social responsibility, and enhancing their leadership skills.

- This was achieved through providing youth with a space to create and implement their own initiatives in the fields of health, education, and the environment.
- The project was implemented in 8 governorates - Alexandria, Assiut, Cairo, Gharbiya, Kalubiya, Minya, Monufiya, South Sinai.
Education Reform in El-Marg District

2008

Partner: Education Reform Project (ERP)

The aim of this project was to provide technical assistance to the Education Reform Project (ERP) in 40 schools located in El-Marg district in two ways:

1. Strategic planning workshops, designed based on an initial study assessing the needs for each school, for the school principles, the training unit direct, and representatives of the board of trustees for each school. This was the first strategic planning program to be implemented in educational institutes in Egypt.

2. Forming and training youth groups to assist in health and education activities. The training involved studying community assets and needs, mapping local assets, utilizing assets to fulfill community needs. The activities involved reducing rates of school dropouts and illiteracy, as well as conducting health awareness campaigns.

My School (Madrasty)

2017

Partner: Vodafone Foundation for Community Development

This project’s goal of improving the educational environment in Egypt was realized through the renovation of primary schools, in 2 phases:

1. The first phase included educational reform, youth development and NGOs.
2. The second phase involved a number of 136 schools in all governorates.

A Step Towards Our Future

2010

Partner: Youth Association for Population and Development (YAPD)

Through this project, Etijah aimed to raise the awareness of youth in Upper Egypt on health issues through establishing and delivering counseling services at youth centers. The Etijah team was responsible for:

• Developing the counseling manual
• Assessing the needs of youth regarding reproductive health and social practices
• Training counselors and volunteers
Humanitarian
Sanad Project: Safe Spaces

2017-2021

Partners: Ministry of Youth and Sports, UNFPA

Women and girls from the refugee community receive case assessment, diagnosis, and case management services. These services include various psychosocial support services provided in group or individual settings.

The main objectives of Sanad Project is to support Syrian refugee women in El Haram and New Damietta by providing them with safe spaces to socialize, and express themselves freely, and gain access to physical and mental health support as well as education.

The 3 main programs implemented are:

1. Psychosocial Support Services (PSS) to gender-based violence survivors
2. Vocational Training Programs
3. Awareness-raising sessions on reproductive health and gender-based violence

With the objective of providing case management and psychosocial support services for women and Girls from Refugees and Host communities, the case management activities at Sanad Safe Space aimed at providing the beneficiaries with the required psychological support needed through counselling, group therapy, psychodrama and other activities.

- 6,410 beneficiaries assessed for case management & diagnosis
- 18,548 beneficiaries reached with all types of SRH services and awareness activities.
- 33,991 beneficiaries reached with GBV programming services and raising awareness activities.
- 1,348 vocational training & economic empowerment beneficiaries.
- 1,590 social integration activities attendees.

Etijah created a strategic partnership with UNFPA and the Ministry of Youth and Sports to work collectively on SRH issues including family planning, ending FGM, fighting early marriage and raising awareness on violence against women. The challenges facing women in the public sphere made it necessary to create Safe Spaces in targeted areas, where women can are encouraged freedom of expression away from responsibilities and presence of men. A safe space goes beyond the physical place. It is about the behaviors and interactions that create an open and accepting environment, a space where everyone feels respected and valued. Women can contribute actively without fear of being judged on any basis.

Dignity/Hygiene Kits

In its response to the COVID-19 outbreak, Etijah is ensuring its interventions address the needs of the most vulnerable, especially women and girls, as well as support Refugees against the pandemic. The effect of disease outbreaks on women differs from that on men. The COVID-19 outbreak has hindered the access of women and girls to services, hygienic products due to the lack of access to public spaces. Etijah with the UNFPA supported 2581 (Number in bold font) Dignity/Hygiene Kits to support the vulnerable women & girls from Refugees. The kits included sanitary pads, hand soap, disinfectants, toilet paper/tissues, hand sanitizer and cloth Face mask. The cloth masks were made by Syrian women beneficiaries of the Sewing workshop delivered at Dammata Safe space. They also include a leaflet providing information on preventive measures against COVID-19, including handwashing, the importance of social distancing, and addressing stigma, as well as information on menstrual hygiene for women and girls.
These safe spaces are meant to provide psychosocial support for women and offer empowerment and educational activities. The spaces provide psychological support services to mitigate the risk of SGBV, provide the necessary support to survivors, assist in early detecting cases and raise the awareness of SGBV, reproductive health and basic health topics among refugees. The safe spaces delivered GBV programming and services to 21063 beneficiaries. The project built a full cycle of referral mechanism and case management to address gender-based violence against women.

Activities conducted in these safe spaces include:
- Self-defense lessons
- Group therapy
- Theatre workshops (e.g. We are Here)
- Storytelling workshops
- Vocational training
- Recreational activities
As part of the Sanad Project, this program aims to raise awareness on the impact of GBV in Egyptian and Syrian communities, using theatre as a medium to inform, educate, entertain and engage the community. 3 teams were recruited and trained to use community theatre as an effective tool for social change in 3 governorates:

1. Damietta
   - 25 participants
   - 42 Sessions

2. El Haram
   - 32 sessions
   - 33 participants

3. 10th of Ramadan
   - 30 sessions
   - 28 participants
Health and Women’s Empowerment
Destination Egypt 2019-2020

Partners: Ministry of Youth and Sports, UNFPA

Destination Egypt 2030 is a national initiative that aims at mobilizing young people to address developmental challenges through edutainment, promotion of youth engagement and contribution towards the achievement of Egypt’s Vision 2030 in order to promote developmental achievements, historical heritage and Egypt as a destination to visit. Destination Egypt 2030 initiative has conducted nine rounds in different governorates of Egypt. The rounds were organized in cooperation with the Ministry of Youth and Sports and funded by the United Nations Population Fund “UNFPA”. The initiative involves three-day activities, each promoting different developmental issues. Each round included different activities like awareness session, community theatre performance, art workshop, 2 km Run, policy dialogue and touristic visit.

Etijah, along its partners, uses sports as an entry point for youth engagement, especially young girls’ empowerment. The activities not only mobilize young people, but they create a platform for debate between adolescent girls and boys. In Qena, Destination Egypt 2030’s activities coincided with International Women’s Day, as participants spent the three days discussing women and girl empowerment.

- 9 rounds
- 38,867 youth participants
- 20,625 participated in the Run
- 218 youth participating in policy dialogue
Football Juggling Marathon

2020

Etijah has conducted a Football Juggling Marathon event during the 16 days of activism against Gender-Based Violence in partnership with the UNFPA and the Ministry of Youth and Sports and with the support of the Italian Agency for Development Cooperation to raise awareness of population issues and combat GBV. During the event, which was streamed on Etijah’s social media to reach 1652 individuals, the Egyptian freestyle footballer known as Yorok has covered a distance of 6 kilometers and 150 meters and thus broke the previous record of 5 kilometers and 820 meters achieved by John Farnworth (UK) in Morocco in 2019. The timing of breaking that record was selected to help the youth and others interested in the field of sports also get to know more about the 16 days of activism and the importance of combating GBV and other harmful practices using creative and innovative ways.
Sports for Development

2017-2019

Partners: Ministry of Youth and Sports, UNFPA

Sport has the power to attract, mobilize and inspire people. By its very nature, sport is about participation, inclusion, and citizenship. It stands for human values such as respect for the opponent, acceptance of binding rules, teamwork and fairness.

We use Sports for Development as an outreach strategy for vulnerable communities. The Sport for Development project aims to raise awareness about sexual and reproductive health, and gender-based violence using 2 main Approaches:

1. Training of Trainers (ToT) Sessions on GBV
   From 2017 to 2019, more than 5000 youth were trained to disseminate messages across Egypt on Sexual and Reproductive Health (SRH), Gender Based Violence (GBV) and Female Genital Mutilation (FGM).

2. Sports Awareness Events
   - More than 5000 participants/beneficiaries
   - 6 governorates - Assiut, Aswan, Beni Suif, Fayoum, Qena, Sohag

The activities included:
- Zumba classes
- Football matches
- Theatre performances
- SRH sessions
- Medical convoys
- Art therapy
- Wendo classes

Community Arts - Nawah Theatre Teams: Reproductive Health and Gender Issues

2015-2021

Partner: UNFPA

Funded by UNFPA and in cooperation with the Ministry of Youth and Sports, Etijah launched Nawah Initiative in 2014 in Sohag, Asuut and Sharqia. Nawah means “A seed” in Arabic. The initiative was formed in the belief that one person, or one initiative cannot change the whole community or do immediate change but it can plant a Seed for Change. The main goal of the initiatives is to promote and facilitate changes in knowledge, attitudes, beliefs and behavior toward different SRH and GBV challenges through empowering young people with the necessary tools to do so. We realized that there is a massive potential out there if effectively employed, it can be channeled towards making a significant contribution to achieving the Sustainable Development Goals (SGDs). Currently, there are 10 Nawah Teams in 10 different governorates, reaching out to to more than 10,000 people in Egypt.
Despite the challenges met, Etijah was capable of conducting large scale events which optimized the gained experience conducting online campaigns in addition to the long-term experience and operational capacity in the field. Therefore, the Community Arts Festival took place in to celebrate the achievements of theatre, monodrama, music, and facilitation training participants who practice throughout the year to produce effective scripts and songs aiming at initiating dialogue about different population issues like Family Planning, FGM, Child Marriage, and GBV. During the festival, the 13 performances were streamed online through Etijah’s Facebook page to reach 557,372 individuals. Eventually, the closing ceremony of the festival was attended by representatives of the EU, Italian ministry, the UNFPA, the Egyptian minister of Youth and Sports, and Mr. Hisham El Roby representing Etijah in honor of the young actresses and actors involved in the festival and to award the most remarkable teams.
Population Awareness Clubs (PACs)

2015-2021

Partners: Ministry of Youth and Sports, UNFPA

The project focuses on two main activities including establishing and equipping new PACs and activating established and new PACs through building the capacities of its members to be able to raise the awareness of community members about SRH issues. PACs work as a hub for awareness dissemination on population issues that include RH issues. The PACs are in public youth centers in different governorates to ensure sustainability and outreach to the local communities and maintain high level of support and response.

During 2020, 100 PACs were newly established in 27 governorates and a number of 15,000 beneficiaries were reached.

Banning Tobacco Advertising, Promotion and Sponsorship in Drama

2015-2019

Partners: Ministry of Youth and Sports, UNFPA

This purpose of this initiative was to advocate for policy changes regarding the regulations on tobacco advertising, promotion and sponsorship in Egyptian drama and television.

The main approach was to collaborate with policy makers, legislators and producers to propose legislation to achieve this purpose, in alignment with the principles of freedom of creativity and expression.

The initiative succeeded in:

- Signing a Media Charter of Honor between the Fund and the Media Syndicate
- Introducing new legislation to parliament regulating the prevalence of smoking scenes in dramatic productions
Self-development is a key concept, underlying many youth empowerment projects. The aim of the Youth Club project was to create a coalition of youth ambassadors, to advocate for women's rights in their communities.

This project consisted of 2 parts:

1. Training
   200 youth in 5 governorates
   Aswan, Beheira, Minya, Qena, Red Sea
   - Designing development workshops
   - Coalition building
   - Resource management
   - Collective advocacy and communication strategies
   - Strategy building

2. Advocacy
   Designing and implementing awareness campaigns to accessing rights locally.
   A total of 6000 people were reached.

Youth Club for Supporting Women’s Rights
2015
Partner: UN Women

The purpose behind the creation of this group was to promote civic engagement through enhancing women’s basic citizenship rights, during a transitional period in Egypt.

The strategy for achieving this included:
- Training youth to become citizenship ambassadors
- Resource management
- Advanced communication and leadership skills
- Conducting community studies on the main obstacles hindering the civic participation of women (e.g. women without national ID cards)
- Aiding women in overcoming these obstacles (e.g. helping the women issue their ID cards)

This strategy was enacted over 2 phases:
150 citizenship ambassadors
7,500 marginalized women and girls
10 governorates - Alexandria, Assiut, Aswan, Beheira, Ismailiya, Minya, Port Said, Qena, Red Sea, Sohag
300 ambassadors
10,000 women and girls
10 governorates

Youth Citizenship Ambassadors’ Group
2014-2016
Partners: National Council of Women, UN Women
Debate Club for Challenges Facing Women

2014-2015

Partner: Canada Fund for Local Initiatives

The aim of this project was to empower women through language and dialogue. There were 3 main components to the implementation of this project:

1. Public debate and dialogue skills training

30 youth leaders, marginalized young women and girls in particular
3 governorates - Beheira, Cairo, Qena

2. Public events, hosted by the participants in their own communities

504 beneficiaries

3. Online campaign to supplement the public events

Strengthening National Capacities for Community-Based Interventions in Reproductive Health and Gender Issues

2014-2015

Partner: UNFPA

The purpose of this project was to strengthen the capacity for community-based intervention in reproductive health issues in Sohag. Enhancing the Well-Being of Al-Badraman
2007-2008
Partner: IDAM

The aim of this project was to improve the conditions in Al-Badraman, a village in the Minya governorate, through tackling issues of education, health and unemployment in order to:
- Reducing rates of school drop-outs
- Reducing illiteracy
- Conducting health awareness campaigns

This was achieved through:
- Forming and training youth groups to assist in activities focused on improving health and education
- Comprehensive training on researching and studying community assets and needs, mapping local assets, and the effective use of assets to fulfill community needs
Etijah decided, in collaboration of IDAM in 2007, to execute an economic study across 10 rural communities at Al-Minya governorate aimed at training and developing youth leaders to make the community asset study. This study argued that economic development was the source of sustainable development in communities across Egypt, and that the Egyptian village is considered a living example for rural communities that are rich in natural resources and can make it equipped as a productive village with a prominent economic level—only when there is an appreciation for these natural and social resources.

Economic Study for 10 Communities at El-Minya Governorate

African Youth Charter

2006

Partner: UNESCO

In collaboration with UNESCO, Etijah was in charge of the translation of the African Youth Charter (AYC) to Arabic. The AYC is a political and legal document (endorsed in 2006 in Gambia) which served as the strategic framework for African States, giving direction for youth empowerment and development at continental, regional, and national levels. The AYC aimed to strengthen, reinforce, and consolidate efforts to empower young people through meaningful youth participation and equal partnership in driving Africa’s development agenda. Key issues affecting youth were adequately addressed within the framework of the Charter, including the areas of employment, sustainable livelihood, education, skills development, health, youth participation, national youth policy, peace and security, law enforcement, youth in the diaspora, and youth with disabilities among many others. The Charter also referred to the rights, freedoms and obligations of youth in Africa.
